

Style Tile vs. Full Comps

I am newer to web design but if I had to give my preference between style tiles and full comps; I would say that I prefer style tiles. The reason I prefer style tiles is because full comps are too literal and I like how style tiles allow me to be able to make little changes later in the design and production of the website. I can get by with style tiles because it allows me to make changes later that helps the website I am designing reach what I envision it to. I spent a decent amount on each of the design methods. The main reason I prefer style tiles is because it allows me more freedom in the process.
